	Strontium Ranelate (Protelos) 2 g / sachet Pack of 28 In light of the MHRA recommendation, regarding concerns around cardiovascular safety beyond the already recognised risk of venous thromboembolism, the Kent and Medway osteoporosis group have issued the following guidance For patients under osteoporosis specialists at present, and due to be seen within the next 3 months, stop treatment if there is concern and alternatives can be considered at the next visit. For others, consider using a bisphosphonate. If this is not possible then refer to your appropriate osteoporosis specialist for advice. It may be possible to advise by letter but it is recognised some will need to be seen in clinic. Ref:- MHRA Alert . Drug Safety Update April 2013 vol 6, issue 9:S1	£27.08

	Neocate Active 63 g unit unspecified Pack of 63 Amino Acid Formulae [AAF] for Cow's milk protein allergy [CMPA]. Expected to be used in less than 10% of cases of CMPA. Initiation in secondary care ONLY or if prescriber has expertise in infant nutrition. Nutramigen Lipil products (1&2) are more cost effective and preferred products for CMPA when initiated in primary care and should therefore be trialled for 2-6 weeks if no request for an alternative from specialists. However if this formula has been prescribed previously and condition is stable, continue until no longer required. (1) Neocate Active is a high calorie formula and will not be required automatically by all infants over 1 year. It is not suitable as a sole source of nutrition (2) Suitable from 1 year until able to tolerate OTC products (3) Prescribe only 1-2 tins to check compliance/tolerance (4) Review when (i) prescribed for more than 12 months AND where greater than expected amounts of formula are being prescribed (ii) where child is over 2 years old	£4.44

	Special Diet Food (Neocate Advance) 1 unit (100g powder) Pack of 100	£5.86
	Amino Acid Formulae [AAF] for Cow's milk protein allergy [CMPA]. Expected to be used in less than 10% of cases of CMPA. Initiation in secondary care ONLY if prescriber has expertise in infant nutrition. Nutramigen Lipil products (1&2) are more cost effective and preferred products for CMPA when initiated in primary care and should be trialled for 2-6 weeks if no request from specialists. However if this formula has been prescribed previously and condition is stable, continue until no longer required (1) Neocate Advance is a sole source of nutrition for patients with CMPA aged 1-10 years. It is a high calorie product and will not be required automatically by all patients over 1 year(2) Suitable from 1 year until able to tolerate over the counter products (3) Prescribe only 1-2 tins until compliance/tolerance is established (4) Review (i) when prescribed for more than 12 months AND where > than expected amounts of formula are being prescribed (ii) where child is over two years

	Hypoallergenic Formula (Nutramigen AA) 400 g unit Pack of 400 This preparation is an Amino Acid Formulae [AAF] for Cow's milk protein allergy [CMPA] and would be expected to be prescribed in only around 10% of cases of CMPA. Initiation in secondary care ONLY or if prescriber has expertise in infant nutrition. Nutramigen Lipil 1 (birth to 6 months) or Nutramigen Lipil 2 (6months to 2 years) are more cost effective and are the first line preferred products for CMPA when initiated in primary care. One of these products should therefore be trialled for 2 to 6 weeks unless a request for this from specialists. However if this formula has been prescribed previously and condition is stable, continue until no longer required. (1) Suitable from 6 months until able to tolerate over the counter products. (2) Prescribe only 1-2 tins until compliance/tolerance is established (3) Review when(i)prescribed for more than 12 months AND where greater than expected amounts of formula are being prescribed (ii)where child is over 2 years old	£23.00
	Soya Protein Baby Powder (Wysoy) 430 g unit Pack of 1 (Do NOT prescribe soya formula (Infasoy®, SMA Wysoy®) for those with CMPA or secondary lactose intolerance. It should not be prescribed at all in those under 6 months due to high phyto-oestrogen content. Parents should be advised to purchase soya formula as it is a similar cost to cow's milk formula and readily available. From 2 years supermarket calcium enriched soya or oat milk may be suitable as an alternative. Alpro® Junior 1+ soya milk may be suitable from 1 year but should be purchased and NOT prescribed as it is not an ACBS recommended product. The paediatric dietitian will advise on suitable over-the counter products for appropriate ages. "Specialised formula for faltering growth. Birth up to 18 months or 8kg. The team to whom the infant is referred should indicate who is responsible for review and discontinuation. If the team hand responsibility back to the GP this should be with an indication of the point when discontinuation can occur. All infants on high energy formula will need growth (weight and height/length) monitored to ensure catch up growth occurs. Once this is achieved the formula should be discontinued to minimise excessive weight gain

	Ideally all NSAIDs ONLY TO BE PRESCRIBED ACUTELY due to ongoing Cardiovascular and Gastrointestinal risk and renal toxicity. Long term pain relief – please consider Paracetamol 1g QDS regularly (as per the WHO analgesia ladder). Low-dose Ibuprofen (1200mg per day or less) is an appropriate first choice NSAID in view of its low risk of GI and CV side effects. Low-dose ibuprofen or naproxen 1000mg per day would appear the most appropriate for patients in whom CV risk is a significant consideration. http://www.mhra.gov.uk/Safetyinformation/Safetywarningsalertsandrecalls/Safetywarningsandmessagesformedicines/CON1004257
